EXPLAINED WORK OF CO.
DEMONSTRATOR TO BOARD

The matter of employing a county demonstrator for Wood county came up at the session of the county board last week, the matter being brought to the notice of that board by Prof. M. H. Jackson of the Wood County Normal. Mr. Jackson told of the work that had been done in the houses of the county by Miss Margaret Breene, but who had been unable to devote any where near as much time to the work as should have been, owing to her duties in the training school, and asked that a county demonstrator be appointed who would be as assistant to Miss Breene. In order to give the members of the board an insight into the work of the county demonstrator Mr. Jackson had induced Miss Breene, county demonstrator for Marathon county, to appear before the board and give them a talk on the subject, and at the conclusion of his remarks he introduced Miss Brady.

Miss Brady explained that she had no interest in seeing a county demonstrator hired in Wood county, outside of the fact that she felt that it would be a good thing for the people of the county. She told of how the county demonstrator did for the women of the county what the county agent was doing for the men. She went into homes and when requested showed the women how to can and preserve fruits and vegetables, taught them how to make over clothes for both the boys and girls of the family and thus save them money. In cases where asked to do so she assisted in the designing of houses and especially kitchens, that the women of the household would be saved as much work as possible.

She also told of how each town had been organized among the women, and of their meetings which were largely attended and where matters were taken up and discussed that would be of benefit to the residents.

Miss Brady was one of the first demonstrators appointed in the state, having served in her present capacity for two years past, and is very enthusiastic about her work and is of the opinion that a great deal of good can be accomplished. She spoke for nearly an hour on the subject, and was able to convey a pretty good idea of what her work consisted of and what could be accomplished. At the conclusion of her talk the members of the board gave her a vote of thanks for the trouble she had been to in the matter, taking no action on the matter.

When the proposition came up to the board on Monday the vote stood 11 for engaging a demonstrator and 29 against. Several who voted against the proposition stated that they were influenced by the large amount of money that was necessary to appropriate at this session of the board.

FOR HUNTING ILLEGALLY

James and Ignatius Labner of the town of Sherry, and August Wentland and Clark Andrews, of the town of Hansen, paid heavy fines in Judge Poinville's court the past week for having killed game which it is illegal to kill in their possession. August Wentland and Clark Andrews appeared before the judge last Thursday. Game Warden Cole being the complaining witness. Mr. Wentland pleaded guilty to having five live skunks in his possession when the warden discovered him, while Andrews had two skunk hides.

Ignatius and James Labner appeared the following day, Ignatius being charged by Warden Cole with having a mink hide in his possession while James was charged with having had three skunk hides. Both pleaded guilty, paying fines of $61.00 each. Wentland paid a fine of $63.19 while Andrews' bill came to $64.79. Sheriff Bluest had the arrests, on the complaint of Warden Cole.

MAY HAVE NEW STORE

A representative of the Metropolitan stores has been in the city several days selling stock in the company and looking for a location for one of their chain of stores here. The company is a 25c and 50c store, it is said, and have stores from coast to coast. Wausau, Marshfield, Watertown, Chippewa Falls and Eau Claire are among the Wisconsin cities in which the stores have already been built.

RAISING COLLEGE FUNDS

Reports on the campaign for the Wisconsin College funds Thursday morning were that about sixty percent of the $45,000 quota for the southern half of Wood county were in, and several solicitors have not returned their reports. N. A. Buck, in charge of this district, expects that the complete reports will bring the district pretty well up to the quota.

DEATH OF MRS. WALTERS

Mrs. John Walters, of the town of Sigel, died at the hospital Tuesday night, following a long illness. Mrs. Walters was to have been operated on but died before the operation could be performed. She is survived by one son, who resides at Monroe, Wis. The body was shipped to Monroe Wednesday evening where the funeral will be held.

CHARGE TRAIN SERVICE

Some changes on the train service north of the city have gone into effect the past week when No. 5 and 6 on the Milwaukee road were run to Wausau and stopped, instead of continuing on to Tomahawk. The change means that Merrill and Tomahawk have only one train a day now.

KROES AT PORT EDWARDS

Al. Kroes, who spoke at the Consolidated employees here at their recent entertainment, spoke Wednesday evening at the School House at Port Edwards to the new employees of the Nekoosa-Edwards mill there.

COUNTY SOIL ASS'N.
PLANS BIG PROGRAM

A campaign which will carry the work of the Central Wisconsin Soil Improvement association into the schoolhouses of every school district in Wood County, and which, through practical demonstration plots will show definitely people in every section of the county the benefits of limestones and fertilizers, was laid out at a meeting of the advisory board of the association held at the Wood County Normal last Thursday. Attended by several vice presidents of the association, by County Agent Clark, Supt. Morris, F. L. Mushbach of the State Experimental Farm at Marshfield, Prof. M. H. Jackson and other representatives of the Training School, suggestions were made, which if carried out as planned, the benefits of belonging to this organization and the advantages of utilizing the soil into a profitable condition will be brought home to every farmer and his family in the county.

Competent speakers who will be able to give an intelligent talk on the matter of soil improvement, who will answer questions brought up by those who are seeking information and who have the actual facts on this matter will invade every portion of the county. Working thru the schools at social center meetings, special gatherings called for the purpose of the county, whenever there will be a group of farmers, these speakers will drive home to the people of Wood County the need of taking care of the soil.

The matter of encouraging the use of limestone on soils which are of strong acidity, and practically every soil that has been tested in the county is of strong acidity, will be carried out. The farmers will be grouped in order that they may order any amount of the limestone they wish, and will be able to get the limestone at a favorable price. The proposition of getting the farmers acquainted with high grade fertilizers will be one of the purposes of the association this year. The growing of soy beans will be urged, either alone or along with corn for silage. Field experiments will be carried out in order to establish where the results of fertilizers will be shown. Farmers from each community will probably have an opportunity to select the farmer who will operate the plot in their community, and will see the plot is given the attention and care which will make the test a fair and practical one.

F. L. Mushbach, Prof. M. H. Jackson, Supt. Morris, W. W. Clark and other authorities will be among the speakers who will travel thru Wood county this winter carrying the message of better soils and better methods of developing them to the farmers.

Mr. Mushbach stated that he would be able to furnish fertilizer for about six of the one-half acre plots, and that he personally would be glad to speak at meetings held in the north part of the county as far as he was able to. He spoke of the results of the use of fertilizers on the experimental plots at the farms, and also of the use of limestone, and was very enthusiastic over the proposition of getting farmers better acquainted with the process of using both. One of the troubles with many of the farmers who are using limestone now, he stated, is the fact that they expect to see startling results the first year. While results are often noticeable the first year, the limestone is not expected to really benefit as rapidly as that. The benefits usually come as the years go by, and according to exhaustive tests made both on farms in this vicinity and on the state experimental farms, there is no doubt regarding the benefits that are derived. In communities where the farmers take any amount of time to see the results of the limestone, the local implement dealer to get in a lime spreader, which may be rented by the farmers or which a group of them might buy in partnership.

According to W. W. Clark, county agent, there has been inquiries come to his office regarding the use of rock phosphate as a fertilizer in the Pittsville district. Mr. Mushbach stated that the acid phosphates were giving more satisfaction considering the cost than were the raw rock phosphates on the land which was experimented on at the state farm. J. B. Weber, of the town of Saratoga, who was the first vice president in the association to get his town organized into a soil improvement association, spoke of the need of getting this work started. B. G. Egert, who has extensive holdings of the limestone in railroad lots, also spoke of his experiences with limestone, phosphate and fertilizers, while S. G. Corey and Mr. Taylor both associated with the Agricultural school gave some interesting data on the matter. L. F. Ferguson, president of the Soil Association, was in charge of the meeting, explaining to the men gathered the purpose of meeting and the necessity of getting started in the year's work. R. E. Wagers, secretary, explained the advantages of getting the limestone in railroad lots and the best methods of handling it. He explained that Kellogg Bros. Lumber Co., which whom he is associated have a lime spreader which has proved successful in different localities where tried, and stated that where they have sold limestone last year the reports that came in from that district were not only encouraging but were also very pleasing.

The work this year include a drive on membership thruout the county. It is felt by the members that the Soil Improvement association is a growing need, and that every farmer that is looking into the future should be a member.

RESIGNED POSITION

A. C. Miller, who has been assistant cashier of the First National Bank for many years, has resigned his position with the firm. Mr. Miller has not announced his future plans.

ROTARIANS ENTERTAINED THEIR WIVES FRIDAY EVE.

The first of a series of Ladies Nights which will be staged by the Rotary Club of this city was enjoyed at the Wood County National Hotel, where the guests entertained their wives and lady friends. About sixty couples were in attendance at the affair, each Rotarian inviting one guest.

Following a six-thirty dinner a program was carried out by the members of the club. President Chas. F. Kellogg gave an interesting address of welcome, followed by a talk on the meaning of "Rotary" by Geo. F. LaBour. E. G. Doudna spoke on "Our Wives" while Mrs. Chas. E. Boles responded, taking the subject "Our Husbands." Guy O. Babcock amused the members and their guests speaking on "Ourselves." E. W. Ellis was one of the feature performers of the evening in a comedy song "Poor Pauline."

Dancing until twelve followed the program, the evening being an enjoyable one for those assembled.

BOYS THROW ROCKS;
ONE SERIOUSLY HURT

Joseph Schneider, aged eight years, however, a life and death special gathering called for the purpose of the county, whenever there will be a group of farmers, these speakers will drive home to the people of Wood County the need of taking care of the soil.

When brought before District Attorney Calkins on Tuesday several lads from that neighborhood stated that they had thrown the rock down town, one element being called the "scabs" while the others were the "strikers." There were six or seven little fellows in each bunch. According to the story they told they were in the habit of throwing sticks and stones at each other frequently, and were doing so Monday afternoon after school. McCann states that he joined the bunch after the trouble had started Monday, and seeing the stones being thrown at one in particular, but at the other bunch of children. He claimed that they threw things more with the intention of frightening than of injuring any of the other boys.

The stone hit the Schneider boy on the head, the force of the impact fracturing the skull. He was rushed to the hospital in this city where Dr. Waters and Dr. Jegen of this city and Dr. McCann operated.

District Attorney Calkins has taken no action on the matter as yet, McCann having been permitted to return to his home to await the developments in the case.

LOCAL ATTORNEY MEMBER OF NATIONAL COMMITTEE

Atty. B. M. Vaughan of this city was made a member of the National Committee on Resolutions at the National Drainage Convention held at St. Louis last week. The committee drew up several resolutions among which was a resolution against the Red Bolshevik and I. W. W. element and the propaganda which they are distributing thruout the country. Other resolutions were made to Congress asking for legislation to aid in interstate drainage. The drainage men want federal aid on projects which start in one state and end in another and want legislation which will aid in carrying out these projects. Mr. Vaughan's experience as a lawyer and his unusually wide knowledge of drainage matters, according to him to draw up the resolutions, which Mr. Vaughan has drawn up have been sent broadcast over the United States and will come up before Congress.

While in St. Louis the delegates were entertained at several banquets and were shown moving pictures of drainage lands in many states. One day the people of St. Louis, according to Mr. Vaughan, the city of St. Louis, is a good thing to be quite town.

Prof. E. R. Jones of Madison was made a vice-president of the national association while Atty. Peter Meyers was made a member of the Executive committee. Mr. Meyers is a Racine attorney while Mr. Jones is with the university of Wisconsin.

ED. MORRIS ELECTED NEW HIGHWAY COMMISSIONER

The matter of electing a county highway commissioner in place of Louis Amundson came up before the county board on Tuesday morning, there being only one candidate in the field beside Mr. Amundson, this being Ed. Morris of Arpin. One ballot was taken on the matter the vote standing 12 for Mr. Amundson and 30 for Mr. Morris, and Mr. Morris was declared elected.

Mr. Morris has had considerable experience in the road work that has been carried on in the county, having been in charge of a crew of men under Mr. Amundson or several years past, and should be able to handle the proposition in good shape.

In the selection of a highway commission the three members chosen were Harry Thomas of Sherry, Geo. W. Brown of Pittsville and August Brooker of Marshfield. This is the same committee with the exception of Louis Schroeder, that has been in charge of the work for a number of years past.

Mrs. J. B. Arpin, Mrs. Nic Reiland, Gertrude Reiland and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Weiland and H. B. Weiland were in Appleton Tuesday to attend the wedding of Miss Rose Wolf.

TRIPLED STOCK OF ROUTING STOVE CO.

Increasing the capital stock from $20,000 to $60,000, renaming the firm and electing officers for the year ending December 31, 1920, the Prentiss-Wabers Stove Company perfected their organization last Thursday evening at the annual business meeting. Mr. Taylor was again selected as president of the company, other officers being:

Vice President—A. J. Hasbrouck. Secretary—D. B. Phillo. Mr. Hasbrouck will remain in the position of superintendent of the plant.

Changing the name from that of the Prentiss-Wabers Mfg. Co. to the Prentiss-Wabers Stove Company, the company advertise the product that they manufacture whenever their name is heard. The increase in the capital stock affords them the opportunity to operate on a much larger scale and get away from many of the minor difficulties which are always appearing in an organization which is under capitalized.

Organized four years ago the company has gone thru probably all the difficulties that new companies might encounter, but have come thru the industrial turmoil with a clean bill of health and are now considered one of the industrial assets of the city. Manufacturing in the neighborhood of 5,000 stoves and employed about thirty men the year around the Prentiss-Wabers Stove Company has grown to be not only one of Grand Rapids' promising industries, but has spread the name and fame of this central Wisconsin city thruout this country and abroad.

The Auto Kamp Koot Kits, which they manufacture, not only are sent to every state in the union, but go to France and Spain, and as the company are able to extend their advertising campaigns they will undoubtedly be used in other foreign countries.

The business is carried on largely thru sporting goods dealers, and while there has been a good demand for the stoves over the entire country the business is especially good thru the Colorado country and west of the Rockies. The people in that region have a natural tendency toward outdoor parties, and rather than stay in hotels on their camping tours they prefer to live out-of-doors and prepare their own meals. The Auto Kamp has been considered the best in its field and with some minor improvements which have been made on it there is nothing that can be considered a real competitor. Other routing stoves lack one or many of the features that the Prentiss-Wabers Stove embodies and taken all around the product that the local company turns out is exceptionally good.

According to D. B. Phillo, secretary of the company, the company has orders on their books which call for about 3,000 stoves for spring delivery, which means that the large crew of men that have been employed this summer will probably be kept busy during the entire winter. This has been one of the desires of the company that they might keep their crew going the entire year, having enough capital that they might work on stock if necessary during the winter.

Foresight on the part of the company officials promises to prevent any shortage of manufacturing materials, orders for steel for future delivery having been placed some time ago. The plant is large enough to accommodate a large increase in business and the present prospects are that the business will see a large increase as the Koot Kits become better known.

BRAZEAU GAVE GOOD TALK AT SUNDAY EVENING CLUB

Speaking on "The Courts and the People," Atty. Theo. W. Brazeau gave a very good talk before the Sunday Evening Club last Sunday. Mr. Brazeau explained that the courts are not autocratic as the American Federation of Labor had declared at their national convention at Atlantic City, but were the foundation of the American system of government. He mentioned the criticism of the courts, explaining that the courts cannot legislate but interpret the law. Speaking of the value of the injunction Mr. Brazeau told how the I. W. W.'s had used it against the Had County union in Boston. The constitutions of the state and of the nation, Mr. Brazeau explained, are the fundamental laws of the land and when a court finds a law unconstitutional it is because it conflicts with that of the nation. He spoke quite lengthily on the prosecution of the labor leaders using as an example the Mooney case, showing that Mooney was not a labor leader.

RED CROSS MEMBERSHIP
MAY BE TWO THOUSAND

With more than seventeen hundred and fifty memberships on the Red Cross Roll Call for the southern half of Wood County, the indications were on Wednesday that the total membership might run as high as two thousand this year. While the present report covers most of the districts, there were a number of communities that were not thoroughly covered, and workers will go over these fields a second time. According to C. E. Jackson, in charge of publicity for the present drive, the campaign will probably bring in all the memberships that can be expected and Grand Rapids and the surrounding territory will probably make a very good showing.

TOOK LOCAL WOMAN 52
YEARS TO FIND TRIBUNE

While some people make it a point to look up the newspaper offices upon their arrival in a town, Mrs. Chas. Primeau has lived in Grand Rapids for fifty-two years and until Monday had never visited the Tribune office in its present location, and did not know where the office was located.

We took the Tribune for a good many years," Mrs. Primeau stated, "but Mr. Primeau looked after the business and I have never been around much. When we came here fifty-two years ago the city was made up of a few frame buildings, and has grown to such an extent that I come time I almost get lost when I come down town."

Mrs. Primeau spoke of her journey to this city by stage when there were no railroads into Grand Rapids. The trip was made overland from New Orleans. It was a dusty, long and tiresome journey, she says. In her residence here she has watched the town grow from a lumbering town, a home of the river runners and mill men, to a city of seven thousand inhabitants and with a diversity of manufacturing concerns.

FIRST NATIONAL WILL BUILD ON WEST SIDE

A new banking building, which will probably be in the neighborhood of $100,000, will be erected next spring and will house the merged First National bank and the Bank of Grand Rapids. The new building will be erected on the corner of Grand and Third avenues, opposite the Johnson & Hill store. Work will start next spring just as soon as weather conditions will permit and the building should, probably, being ready for occupancy some time during the following winter. The new bank is to be known as the First National Bank.

While the personal of the officers has not been definitely decided upon as yet it has been decided that I. P. Witter will be the president.

W. J. Taylor, cashier of the State Bank of Kiel, Wis., will be cashier. Mr. Taylor is a comparatively young man although he has spent his life in the banking business and comes to Grand Rapids with an exceptional record. His experience previous to the position at Kiel was in some of the state's largest banking institutions. Kiel is in the heart of a prosperous farming country and the banking institution at that place has done a remarkable business under his guidance.

With the definite decision to move from the east side bank there has been no decision as yet as to what will be done with that building. It will serve the First National bank for probably a year to come, during which time the new bank will be under construction and the consolidation of the two institutions is being perfected.

There has been a number of things suggested as to what will be done with the building after that, a doctor's clinic, a location for the Public Library and similar purposes have been mentioned.

No plans for the new building on the west side have been considered as yet, and as nothing has been done there can be no description of the new building given. The property on which the bank will be located is 66x132 and the bank building will naturally have to conform with the property.

PEOPLE CAN LOOK FOR HIGH TAXES THIS YEAR

With the addition of $90,580 as additional taxes for the Soldiers Bonus, and $70,000 to take care of the bridge in this city, the people of the county can look forward to paying the heaviest taxes this year that they have ever paid on their property. This will mean that both of these matters will be completely paid for this year and while it may make the bills a little high there will be no dragging along for several years getting these appropriations taken care of. It is estimated that these additional funds will raise the taxes about three and three-quarter cents. While the county board estimated that it would raise the taxes in the county about $8 per $1,000.

Following their visit to the County Asylum Wednesday the County Board appropriated $54,000 for the purpose of building a concrete road from the asylum down to the main highway. This is a very large sum of money for the county, and the Board is expected to complete today, and the Board will probably adjourn until next year.

PLAN CHARITY BALL

The Sun Rise Club has announced their intention of giving a "Charity Ball" at the Elks Club, Friday evening, December 5th. They are selling tickets for the affair, the proceeds to go to the benefit of the Woman's Relief Committee of the Federation.

VESPER CROWD GO NORTH

Game Wardens Will Cole of Vesper and S. V. Kelsey, of Stevens Point, Roy Murgatroyd and Louis Johnson of Vesper, left the first of the week for Hanibal, where they will hunt deer. Sheriff Bluest expects to join the party before the season closes.

Edmund Livernash of the town of Carson was a caller here Thursday.

CONSOLIDATED BUYS
WEST SIDE BLOCKS

The deals on the west side business blocks including the Mackinac property and the Poinville, Briere, Sutor, LeFebvre property on the other block, have been closed by the Consolidated Water Power & Paper Co. during the past week and the company will have actual possession within a few days. The completing of the abstracts remains to be done in some of the deals.

"We are buying the property and doing nothing with it for the present," Mr. Mead stated Thursday. With the erection of the new bridge and other extensive building that will be carried out in the city things will be pretty busy, he explained, and there will be no improvements made on the property in the immediate future.

One of the progressive steps which will be taken by the company, and which will mean a decided improvement for the city, will be a step to take out the switch track along the west side of their property. The track runs parallel with Second avenue and crosses Grand. Mr. Mead stated that the company contemplates acquiring the railroad to take out that switch across Grand Avenue, the Consolidated and Milling Company to be served from the north and the Wood County Grocery, Mott & Wood Co., Marling Lbr. Co., and others can be served from the other direction. This will take all tracks away from the center of the west side business district, thus extending the street car tracks.

There has been considerable talk of the erection of a new office building on the present Poinville property on Grand Avenue, however, this is a project for future consideration, Mr. Mead states. It is also possible, he said Thursday, that this new office building might be erected on the old Johnson & Hill property formerly occupied by the grocery store.

MAN LOST ARM IN BIRON
MILL WEDNESDAY NIGHT

William Gunz, aged twenty-one, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Gunz of the town of Rudolph, lost his left arm in a pulley at the Biron mill Wednesday night at about nine o'clock. Mr. Gunz was scraping the state when the accident occurred. He was scraping toward the pulley when his hand was drawn between the belt and the pulley, taking the arm off between the shoulder and the elbow. The fact that the company has been giving some practical first aid lectures up there thru Dr. Poinville probably saved the man's life. Percy Kempfert and Herman Zager were the first aid men on duty and giving immediate assistance they stopped the flow of blood. Dr. Poinville treated the man, taking him to the hospital, where he was resting nicely Thursday morning.

Mr. Gunz has been employed at the Biron mill about four years. Ray Schannock had his nose broken at the Grand Rapids mill Tuesday when his hand was drawn in between the dryer felt and the dryer drum on a drying machine. He managed to pull his hand out but it drew him up against the machine with considerable force, breaking his nose and injuring his face some.

STOP CONSOLIDATED FROM FLOODING FARMERS LANDS

A temporary injunction restraining the Consolidated Water Power and Paper Co. and the Jackson Milling Co., both of Stevens Point from maintaining a head of water at the Wisconsin river dam, greater than the 100 foot level on the water gauge at the old dam was granted by Judge B. B. Park.

The order was issued in the cases instituted by Andrew Gollon and J. Gollon, owners of property in the town of Hull, Portage county, who claimed that as a result of the building of the new dam and the consequent raising of the water in the river, their lands had been flooded. They asked an injunction to give relief from the flooding, and relief from damage already done. Twenty or more other claims, filed by owners of property in Hull, will be decided by the outcome of the two cases.

SELL WATAB PAPER MILL

Local stockholders in the Watab Paper Mills at St. Cloud, Minn., have received notice of a stockholders meeting coming to the Grand Rapids people last Saturday. Charles Oberly, formerly with the Consolidated mills in this city was one of the builders of the Watab mills and quite a number here held stock. The stock paid dividends and sold for quite a substantial increase over the amount invested.

HAD THE WRONG NAME

In the account of the woman forging the checks in last week's Tribune the name used should have been Mrs. Emilie Hamann, instead of Mrs. John Hamann. Mrs. Hamann will probably be taken to Stevens Point this week to appear before the judge and receive her sentence.

SHIPPING ELK HERE

The Elks Lodge received word the first of the week that Geo. Forand was shipping them an elk from Montana, where he has been for some time on his way west. The elk had not arrived at the time of going to press, but will be cooked for a big "feed" when it gets here.

HAD BAD FIRE

According to a report from Babcock Anton Eber, one of the prominent farmers down there, had a bad fire on his farm Wednesday, a machine shed on the place having been burned along with considerable farm equipment. The loss included a lighting plant and according to his son, Lawrence, who resides here, the damages amount to about $2,000.

BOARD AGAIN VOTES DOWN
NURSE FOR WOOD COUNTY

The matter of employing a county nurse for Wood County came up before the county board on Tuesday, and after a resolution had been introduced to employ such a nurse, there was considerable discussion on the subject, those in favor of the proposition arguing that it would be necessary to employ a nurse in the near future in order to comply with the law, while those opposed to the matter maintained that the county was loaded down with taxes at the present time, and that it would be advisable to put the matter off for one year. Upon a vote being taken on the matter the proposition lost by a vote of 19 to 21.

The state law says that each county of the state shall employ such a nurse after the 1st of January, 1921, so that it will be necessary to employ such a nurse one year hence. At the session held on Tuesday afternoon the salary of the district attorney was raised from $1200 per year to $1800, same to take effect January 1st, 1921.

BRIDGE BONDS VOTED BY LARGE MAJORITY

Carrying every ward by a substantial majority the Bridge Bond issue was carried in Grand Rapids last Friday by a majority vote of 453 to 56. The vote was very light in every ward, the heaviest opposition being found in the Fifth ward, where sixteen voted against the issue.

The official vote by wards follows:

Ward	For	Against
1st ward	34	6
2nd ward	96	6
3rd ward	82	7
4th ward	69	7
5th ward	26	16
6th ward	43	8
7th ward	65	8
8th ward	38	4

Total 453 56

The returns were sent in to Madison immediately after the election and Monday morning the state verified them and put up their share of the money to the county. The county board is in session this week and will take action on the matter before their adjournment. It is not a question of their raising the money now as the law requires that they now make the state and city funds, but by what means they will use to raise it.

The surveys have been completed by the local division of the State Highway Commission and the plans are being worked on at Madison for the structure. The present indications are that the work will be started next spring and completed as quickly as possible.

PLAN THANKSGIVING PARTY FOR STRIKERS FAMILIES

Thru the Grand Rapids Federation of Labor the members of Nekoosa and Port Edwards unions and their families who have remained in Nekoosa and Port Edwards and who have not gone to other places to work, will be entertained at a Thanksgiving supper and dance, should present plans be carried out. Provision has already been made for the dance and music and if it is possible to handle the matter a chicken supper will be served.

The present plans are that the families will be entertained during the afternoon at Stevens Hall, when they can assemble and play cards or amuse themselves in other ways. The chicken supper would be served at about six and following the supper and probably a short program there would be dancing. The invitation would be extended to the entire families and would be done as a means of getting them together and letting them know that the other labor organizations are still standing behind them in the strike. Local union officials estimate that there are about forty families that remain in Nekoosa and Port Edwards whose husbands have not gone to other cities to work.

HAD VARIETY OF EXPERIENCES

Sergeant John Phillo, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Phillo, arrived home Monday evening after sixteen months service in this country and abroad with the Railroad Transportation Corps. John operated as a switchman on a branch line and later a conductor in France, traveling pretty well thru the country and around the Brest and Bordeaux section. Once while on leave John and two companions were picked up in Paris and failing to have the proper papers were sent to "Hard Boiled" Smith's camp where he was held several days. He states that the stories of cruelty which have come from the front and that he can relate just as bad and even worse than have been told in the different newspapers. John will probably spend the winter here.

BOUGHT SHERRY PROPERTY

(From Sherry Correspondent)
The Sherry Cheese & Butter Co. have purchased the Timothy O'Connell property adjacent to its present location, the consideration being $1800. The company were becoming crowded for room and the new property will afford a splendid space for the cheesemakers garden and a large orchard. Joe Brinkman, who recently moved here from Nasonville with his family of ten children, has found the house rather small, however there is another house on the place which can be used when needed.

Frank Brostowicz has sold his farm in the town of Sigel to James Doren of Iowa, who takes possession. The property includes 100 acres and the price was $12,000. Mr. Brostowicz has been having trouble with his eyes of late and intends to move to Milwaukee where he will consult a specialist with the hope of getting some relief.

NASH TO BUILD
WEST SIDE STORES

Extensive building operations, which will include the complete remodeling of his present hardware store and the erection of two or three stores to face Grand Avenue, are being planned by L. M. Nash. Should the present plans go thru it will mean that the old building on First Avenue south, used for many years as a store house by the Nash Hardware company, will be torn out. The present large hardware store which faces First Avenue, will be rebuilt, the present building being divided into at least two and possibly three stores, to face on Grand Avenue. The depth of these new stores would be double the width of the present store, running back to the south side of the present store house.

An entire plate glass front for a distance of one hundred and thirty-two feet on Grand Avenue and for the entire depth of the store on First Avenue, which will be sixty-four feet, will make the stores among the most attractive in the city. While the plans have not been perfected as yet, it is Mr. Nash's plans to either have to wide acres facing Grand Avenue and one narrow store, or make it into two very wide stores. This will join his present store building on Grand Avenue, formerly occupied by the Nash Grocery Company making the frontage on that block a series of his stores. The present hardware store will occupy one of the buildings while other firms will take up the balance of the block.

The stores will be two stories in height and the second floor will be utilized for offices. The central location of both the stores and offices should make them unusually popular and with the surrounding improvements that are being contemplated this part of the city should be especially attractive.

Probably never in the history of the city has so many new improvements been under consideration as are being considered at the west side during the next two years. With the improvements on the Nash property, the possibility of the raising of the Mackinac block and making a park on that property, the erection of a new bank on the Witter property opposite Johnson & Hill's store, the new structures that the Consolidated Water Power & Paper Co. may build on the Poinville and LeFebvre property, the building of a new bridge and the possibility of a new postoffice somewhere in the city it is apparent that the city will experience a decided boom in the building line for a few years.

The Nash Hardware store is one of the older stores of the city, having been erected in 1885 by Mr. L. M. Nash, he being

A DO-NOTHING CONGRESS

The Sixty-sixth Congress—the "Penrose" Congress—is still plodding along, nagging at the President, trying to find or invent campaign issues, but doing nothing constructive, nothing to help the business man, the laborer, the returned soldier or the country. All of the loud and clamorous promises of the last Congressional campaign have been forgotten. No railroad legislation, no tariff laws, no tax measures have been passed. The Republicans have not enacted a single constructive law since the new Congress met. The resolution to submit the woman suffrage amendment was adopted but it was not a partisan question, and the President had paved the way for its final acceptance.

Six appropriation bills, all of which were prepared by the Democrats at the last session of the Sixty-fifth Congress, and 24 bridge bills, to which there was no objection, have been passed.

Month by month, since May 13, when Congress met, the record of the Republicans has become worse. The only activity in which the Republican leaders have shown any enthusiasm was the creation of "investigating" committees to travel about the country multiplying expenses to hold post mortems over expenditures in the victorious war against Germany. All that the Republican investigating committees have found was known to the public months ago.

Watch For The Parade !!

The House has been rent with factional fights. The defeat of James R. Mann for the speakership by outside interference, inspired and led by Senator Penrose, of Pennsylvania, and Will H. Hayes, chairman of the Republican National Committee, has given trouble to the G. O. P.

The Senate has devoted twenty weeks to an effort to break down the President by killing the German peace treaty. This fight has been led by Senators Lodge of Massachusetts, Knox of Pennsylvania, Penrose of Pennsylvania, Brandegee of Connecticut, New and Watson of Indiana, and recent additions to Old Guard Republicanism, such as McCormick of Illinois, Norris of Nebraska, Cummins of Iowa, Borah of Idaho, Johnson of California and Capper of Kansas.

For months, there was no definite policy. The plan seemed to be to delay and scuttle the treaty in every way possible. Every discordant faction or group got the ear of Senator Lodge, head of the packed Foreign Relations Committee. Day after day was frittered away in irrelevant hearings.

All the while Senator Penrose, the real "boss," the clever leader, of the Sixty-sixth Congress, conducted campaigns in his home state. He appeared in the Senate chamber but infrequently.

About the middle of September Mr. Penrose reentered the Senate. Soon there were signs of his fine Italian hand. Senator Watson of Indiana who has done a certain class of work for the Old Guard Republicans for two decades, was put in charge of rounding up the Penrose-Lodge group. Senator Johnson, candidate for the Republican nomination for the presidency, was called back from the Middle West, where he was attacking the President. Penrose had passed out the word that the treaty should be expedited. He wants to get it out of the way. Immediately the "boss" decided upon this rushing program Mr. Watson gave out an interview. He asked that Senator Johnson be called back again.

The hand of Mr. Penrose is seen all along the way. He will have his wish. No effort was made to hurry the treaty until President Wilson became ill. Now it is said that it will be ratified with "strong reservations" by November 1.

Republicans in Massachusetts have notified Senator Lodge that they will not follow him to the length of defeating the treaty. In this yearning to be a great leader, Senator Lodge evidently goes so far ahead of the Republican organization in his state that it couldn't see him.

We may soon see the Republican House of Representatives passing a few bills. The "investigating" committees are preparing to pass a few large expense bills up to the Treasury for payment.

PITTSVILLE GIRL WED TO YOUNG MAN FROM SPENCER

Miss Mary Itzen, of Pittsville, and Mr. Otto Mellin, of Spencer, were united in marriage Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock, the ceremony having been performed at Pittsville.

Miss Edna Miller was the bridesmaid while Arthur Millin was the groomsmen. The bride wore a gown of blue tulle, making a very charming appearance, the bridesmaid being equally pretty in dark green tulle.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Itzen and is an estimable young lady. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Millin, of Spencer. He is a chemist by trade and is said to be an industrious and ambitious young man. The Tribune unites with their many friends in wishing them every happiness.

SUGAR KILLS BEES

(Vesper State Center)
Frank Stodet, of Arpin, the bee man, is having an unusual experience this fall owing to feeding his bees some damaged sugar. Evidently the sugar contained some chemical detrimental to the bees as the bees are dying rapidly. In several hives the entire swarm of bees have died and others only have a few bees left to the hive. His loss will aggregate upwards of $2000.

Made Record Trip.

Capt. Klaus Larson, in his little motor boat, made a successful trip from the foot of the cataract through the Whirlpool rapids of Niagara falls on September 19, 1910. Despite the battering of the Whirlpool rapids Larson went through safely; the little boat was lost to sight most of the time, but at Great Wave it was shot 20 feet out of the water. Except the old Maid of the Mist, sent through in 1864 to avoid seizure, Larson's is the only engine-propelled craft to have gone through the rapids.

HOLSTEIN MEN MEET HERE DECEMBER 9TH

The Grand Rapids meeting of the Wood County Holstein Breeders, which will be held in conjunction with the "Whirlwind Holstein Campaign" will be held in this city December 9th. The meeting will be held at the Wood County Normal and Agricultural School, the first session in the morning at 11:00 and the second session at 1:00 in the afternoon.

A glance at the schedule of meetings planned for this campaign shows that practically every important Holstein community will have a meeting. The purpose of this comprehensive schedule is to give every Holstein breeder in the state an opportunity to realize the importance of a more aggressive and united effort to keep Wisconsin Holsteins at the head of the procession.

Our sister states are becoming highly organized and are making rapid strides toward popularizing certain lines of breeding which they have been developing. Wisconsin Holsteins are second to none but the breeders of Wisconsin must see to it that they are given opportunities second to none. By that we mean that Wisconsin Holsteins must have the same thought, money, and publicity back of them that is backing up Holsteins from other states—yes, Wisconsin Holsteins should have the best effort back of them so that buyers of Holstein cattle will become acquainted with the merits of Wisconsin Holstein cattle first.

The state Holstein-Friesian Breeders' Association has a number of plans to make this dream a reality. One of the important things of the campaign is to be able to put up these plans squarely to the breeders of the state.

The state sale is another thing that should be boosted so that Wisconsin Holsteins may become more widely advertised and that the state association may have more funds to boost Wisconsin Holsteins. The Minnesota State Association has netted their Association between sixteen and eighteen thousand dollars.

Prox committees should also be appointed in every locality so that Wisconsin may have a vote for every member at the next national meeting which is to be held at St. Paul.

Have you bought any machinery during the last year? If so, you realize something of the present prices of all kinds of machinery, tools, and in fact any sort of hardware. November is here. We can expect stormy weather with snow and sleet almost any time now. My suggestion is, take a day off from your other work and devote all your time to gathering up farm machinery, tools, etc., and put them away for the winter.

A little grease and oil now to prevent rust will save you a lot of time next spring. After you have got your material all gathered up and put away, take a sheet of paper and make an inventory of it, putting the price on everything. As a basis on which to work use the prices now charged for machinery compared with second hand machinery as sold at auction. Include in this inventory all small items such as pitchforks, hoes, hammers, saws, and tools of all sorts and descriptions. When you get this inventory you will be surprised how much money is represented. This should be an incentive for better care of farm machinery in the future.

Do this at once. It will be a day's time well spent. Make some day this week pick-up day. Suppose you make Saturday, November 15, pick-up day. The boys and girls will be home from school to help you.

We are going to have a pick-up day on our farm. My help is all hired but I believe their wages will be well spent.

UNITED STATES HELPS PLAN FARMHOUSE

It does not cost any more to build a house which will be pretty and convenient than it does to erect a homely and inconvenient dwelling. The home-demonstration agents of the south are telling the people of their territories. The state agricultural colleges and the United States Department of Agriculture are backing up this "home beautiful" movement. In some States the work is yet in the lecture stage and in others demonstration homes are being erected which are to serve as good examples of architecture in that community.

Such a home was built last summer in Talladega County, Ala. Not only its plans, but its decoration and landscape setting as well, have been made according to the designs of the Government experts. It is up-to-date in every detail, but strict economy has been used in the plans. Beauty of line and material are to be found in this farm dwelling. So much care has been put on the floor plans and so many labor-saving devices have been built in that house-keeping in it will be easy.

The house is built of lumber cut on the farm and it is located on a main thoroughfare, where a comfortable, well-planned, and pretty farm home can be a source of inspiration.

OCTARON BEAUTY CHORUS

Manager R. M. Harvey, who owns and personally manages the Harvey Greater Minstrels, is justly proud of his Octaroon Beauty Chorus as it is a decided novelty to have women with a minstrel show, but adds to the picture in the first part and makes the singing one of the features with the show. The claim is made that they are "Beauties" and will create a furore here.

They come to the Daily Theatre Wednesday, Nov. 26th.

ACQUIT RHINELANDER MAN

John Mainville, a Rhinelander man, was acquitted in the circuit court at Antigo last week of a charge of having shot the murder of Frank Parsons. Mainville shot Parsons several months ago when his wife told him that Parsons had attacked her. The jury deliberated four hours before bringing in a verdict of not guilty.

Mrs. F. E. Holmes spent Thursday visiting at the South Side.

Full Glory of Cherry Blossoms

Blooming of the cherry trees in Japan occurred earlier this year than usual, owing to the exceptionally warm weather of the early months. The blossoms were out in great profusion on Sunday, March 30. The high sakura trees in Ueno park were in full bloom; the Yoshino sakura, or common variety, came on in full bloom on April 3, the anniversary of the first emperor of Japan. Everybody in Japan is enjoying the arborecence of springtime.

WILL HAVE GRAND STAND

The county board appropriated $1000 toward the building of a new concrete grand stand in the Marsh-field fair grounds. Secretary R. H. Williams appeared before the board and explained that the new grand stand would cost $10,000, so that the amount contributed by the county was only about ten per cent of the total cost.

Holding to a Standard

EVEN with its great resources this house cannot expect to meet the full requirements of the public this Fall.

What it can do is to hold to the Kuppenheimer standards — so that no purchaser may find a Kuppenheimer Suit or Overcoat affected by the abnormal demand and the decreased supply of good woolsens.

Its friends will find the same sure touch of style, a still wider choice of models and patterns produced by a house jealous of its sixty years' prestige.

FIRES IN COAL PILES

Presence of moisture in coal, and lack of proper ventilation in coal bins often result in spontaneous combustion, particularly in fine soft coal.

To guard against such fires, coal from the mines should not be put into bins until after a seasoning of at least six weeks out doors; the fine coal should not be allowed to accumulate at one place, but should be mixed with the coarse; alternate wetting and drying of coal should be avoided; coal should be stored in dry, well ventilated bins or bunkers, well removed from sources of external heat.

Both water and chemicals are often ineffective on coal pile fires. In fact, using such fires instead of extinguishing them. The only sure way is to remove the coal from the bin, shed or bunker and let it dry.

Caution along these lines means conservation of fuel, which appears to be very necessary.

This would be a mighty pleasant world if men were always as soft-spoken as they are when they are making a touch.

TO GET EGGS IN WINTER FEED WELL, FEED ENOUGH

Hens build eggs only when they have a surplus of food. Like humans, the hen considers herself first. When she has food enough for maintenance the extra food, if properly balanced, will go toward egg production. It is, therefore, poor economy to starve or barely feed the hens enough to keep them alive, says D. H. Reid, poultryman at the Wisconsin Experiment Station. However, heavy feeding does not necessarily mean heavy egg production, for the hens must be naturally good layers or good feeding will not secure the desired results.

The way in which feed is given to the hen also influences the egg production. The hen that has only to go to a box or feed trough to get what she wants to eat and then goes and sits down, will never lay a large number of eggs. The hen that has to scratch in a natural way and hunt around a great deal, getting good exercise while feeding, will have a healthy body and will use her extra food in laying eggs.

The composition of the feed is not the only factor in balancing an egg ration thinks Mr. Reid. The case which feed is digested influences egg production. Feed that requires a great deal of energy for digestion will be that much lower in efficiency as an egg food.

Heavy winter egg production depends not only on the kinds of food fed, and the amount of feed, but the way it is fed and its digestibility.

Five per cent loss from smut on a 30 bushel wheat yield may not look like much on $100 land when wheat is $1.00 a bushel. On $200 land, with wheat at $2.25 a bushel, the five per cent loss begins to count larger against the year's profit. This is one of the reasons for the demand for information concerning diseases of farm crops.

Practical instruction in plant diseases and their control will be a part of the work in the short course at the College of Agriculture this year. The first term begins Nov. 11 and extends to December 19. Tuition is free to residents of Wisconsin and no entrance examination is required. Applications for entrance should be in charge of the course.

Other practical economies on the farm are handled in other classes. The relation of bacteria to agriculture includes instruction in inoculation of legumes, care of milk, and preservation of food and feeders. Composition and conservation of farm manure, control of injurious insects, prevention of soil erosion, diseases of animals are all subjects that are handled in different classes in the short course. Classes in farm bookkeeping and farm management show further the business side of farming.

If a man is standing on the street talking to three or four men he can talk them to death. But if the same man is standing on a stage talking to two or three hundred men he can't say a word.

It has just about gotten to a point where, when the first baby comes along, the parents buy a Ford for it instead of a baby buggy.

HIGHER COST REQUIRE LESS WASTE ON FARM

Removal of soot from boilers, furnaces, flues, heating surfaces and chimneys is also necessary to get the best results in heat or power from the fuel consumed.

Joseph Harrington, Engineer for the United States Fuel Administration recommends the following plan for the removal of soot:

"The fire is put into good condition with a substantial body of hot fuel. Common salt, thoroughly dried is then thrown or sprinkled onto the incandescent fuel bed in a quantity depending entirely on the size of the furnace. In the case of a house heating furnace, one pound at a time is ample, in the case of a large power plant boiler, four or five scoops full may be required. The dampers are kept open so as to maintain the furnace temperature and the salt is allowed to remain until the fumes have entirely disappeared.

"Immediately upon charging the salt, the furnace becomes filled with dense white fumes which may require as much as half an hour to entirely disappear. If results are not secured on the first application, it should be repeated as many times as necessary.

"Once the heating surface is thoroughly cleaned, a small application every few days is usually sufficient to keep it so."

This cheap and simple process should be tried to prevent fires from chimneys and to conserve coal.

FINANCING THE FARM ON THE BUDGET PLAN

War Savings Organization Gives Titles of Soil System on Which to Increase Capital for Future.

Farming nowadays justly is recognized as a business and a profession. As a profession it is prepared for as carefully as any other branch of highly specialized endeavor; as a business it is conducted according to business methods and upon a businesslike basis. Old-time "hit or miss" farming methods still vitally under the present economic regime.

The first step toward businesslike farm management consists of systematizing farm finances. Because farm moneys come in irregularly they have been handled too often in the past without any adequate accounts or record. This method, rendered impossible by income tax necessities, long has been scorned by the successful progressive farmer who believes in modern machinery, modern comforts, modern efficiency practices and projects. Such a farmer employs a farm budget just as he employs grain, soil and weather statistics in the arrangement of his farm operations, takes a good farm journal and demands fine and well-tested seeds. Because not every farmer cares to spend time making out an individual farm budget governmental experts, working through the War Savings Stamps department of the War Loan Organization, Seventh Federal Reserve District, have provided for the use of every farmer who cares to employ them farm records, including account sheets, that render the keeping of farm accounts a simple task.

One page of the simple pamphlet containing the indicated record is a detailed receipt, its opposite to expenditures, each registered every day of the year. Milk, butter, poultry, eggs, cattle and hogs, sheep, oats, corn, hay, fruit, vegetables and miscellaneous—these are the headings under which the irregular or recurrent sources of income are listed.

Total income for each day is shown at the right of the page; monthly total, collective and for separate items, at the foot. The expenditures page, similarly arranged, shows headings of: Savings, including War Savings Stamps purchased, bank deposits, etc.; labor; food, including groceries and meat; clothing; repairs; blacksmith; machinery; rent, insurance and taxes; live stock and feed; buildings; literature, which includes books, magazines and newspapers; recreation; and miscellaneous. Again, daily totals are shown at the right of the page, monthly totals, itemized and general, at the foot. Companion pages, similarly arranged, show yearly summaries, at most instantaneously computed, of receipts and expenditures for the year.

War Savings Stamps make ideal investments for the farmer. Purchasable for sums ranging from $4 and a few odd pennies to $1,000, but up by means of Thrift Stamps, should this prove more convenient, they are non-depreciable, nonfluctuating, income-bearing and distinguished by high rate of maturity interest. Previous to maturity they may be redeemed, if necessary, at precise face value.

REDUCE THE COST OF LIVING

All meats are expensive, there naturally is still a need for the practice of economy in the preparation of meat dishes in the average household.

Recognizing this fact and to further help an important industry the International Live Stock Exposition engaged the services of some of the foremost instructors in "Home Economics" for this year's event, who will give daily demonstrations in one of the main halls of the International Amphitheatre during the first week in December, teaching how the cheaper cuts of beef, pork, and mutton may be made as palatable and nutritious as the higher priced roasts and steaks. By the application of conservation along these lines the cost of living may, without imposing inconvenience for hardship, be not only materially reduced, but the American housewife can also, thereby, alleviate the needs of our fellow beings across the Atlantic. "Better meals at a reduced cost" is a problem squarely up to those who prepare the food in the American homes. These expert demonstrators further give valuable hints on food combinations, which if adopted, will serve to improve the health, happiness and welfare of our people. It is merely a matter of knowing how, and these demonstrations are so arranged that the visiting women may learn and absorb these lessons without missing other important and interesting features of the show.

While your husbands are solving the problem of economical production, you may acquire the art of economical preparation and use, which is of equal importance.

The Home Economics School is a feature of the "International" that promises to enlarge its scope, provided the women profit by the opportunity.

TO BUILD CONCRETE ROAD THRU COUNTY

Six hundred and twenty-one thousand dollars is the amount that the county board decided to spend on concrete roads this coming year of 1920, which will be the high water mark in road building in Wood county. It is expected that this will build the greater part of a concrete road between this city and Marshfield, although when completed there will be a gap of about two miles in the town of Hansen between Vesper and the cheese factory southeast of that village.

The route as laid out by the Division Engineer Menge runs from Marshfield east to Auburndale, where it connects with a short stretch of concrete now in, turns south and passes thru Arpin and from there to Vesper, which is as far as it will be built this year on this road. Then the concrete will be started from this city and carried along the Vesper road as far as the creamery, where the road turns north, where the work will be discontinued. This will leave a gap of about two miles of unimproved road, and will be the only part of the road between this city and Marshfield that will not be of concrete.

There were a number of the members of the county board who strongly objected to building the road in this manner, as some of them thought that one should be taken and improved all the way thru, so that at the end of the season if nothing went wrong, there would be a continuous concrete road from this city to Marshfield. Engineer Menge was at the meeting and explained that the reason for building a part of each road next season was with the idea that the traffic could be handled better in this way, and that it would be possible to improve the part between Vesper and the Cheese factory with county funds, so that it would be in good shape for travel by the time the concrete was finished. The matter was discussed among the members to a considerable extent and was finally laid over until Friday for a final vote. At this time an amendment to the original resolution was offered by Supervisor Lubbers, but the amendment lost and the original resolution was carried.

GOOD NATION PROPORTIONS FEED TO MILK PRODUCED

Feeding cows regularly and according to their production is a practice followed by successful dairy men. Sunlight, fresh air, fresh water, and good treatment help to get more milk.

A good rule for feeding according to production is to allow every 1000 pound cow one pound of concentrates (grain and mill feed) for every three or four pounds of milk produced. Cows producing a high percentage of butterfat should receive the greater proportion of concentrates. In addition to concentrates there is needed one of these:

30 pounds of corn silage and 10 pounds of hay; or 30 pounds of roots and 15 pounds of hay; or 8 pounds of dried beet pulp (soaked 24 hours) and 10 pounds of hay; or 20 pounds of clover or alfalfa hay; or 20 pounds of timothy, prairie, or marsh hay with 1 to 2 pounds of oil meal.

The poorer the quality of roughage the better the concentrate mixtures should be. Two mixtures advised by the animal husbandry department of the College of Agriculture are:

Corn and cob meal, 100 pounds; ground oats, 200 pounds; wheat bran, 100 pounds; oilmeal, 100 pounds; gluten feed or dried brewers grains 100 pounds.

Ground oats, 200 pounds; ground barley, 200 pounds; wheat bran, 200 pounds; oilmeal 100 pounds.

If six slim princesses stop to talk on the sidewalk you get past without much trouble. But if two corn cobs stop to talk on the sidewalk you have to walk out on the street to get by.

We may be grouchy. But we never got any corns on our hands from applauding a burlesque queen with a middle-aged spread around the beam, just because she wore a ballet skirt and has a soubrette part.

No hunter ever lived who has not at some time fostered the wish that he could fly and thus chase up a flock of wild geese, ducks or turkeys. The wish has always sounded like a fairy tale, in fact has been one up to the time the flying machine was invented, but now, far from being a fairy-story, it is an accomplished fact.
Last Sunday afternoon, an aviator going from Appleton to Green Bay, ran into a flock of geese, between Black Creek and Leeman. He came upon the geese at a great altitude and fell in behind them and gave them a chase.
The geese were headed south and from the noise they made were apparently much agitated over the appearance of the new air monster which was close up to them. At first they attempted to get away from it by "speeding up," but after covering several miles during which time the airplane gained on them they resorted to different tactics.
Then they changed their course from one direction to another at the same time dropping or rising several hundred feet, but no matter what stunts they pulled off the airplane was at their heels. After the aviator had all the fun he wanted and had furnished all kinds of amusement for the crowd that was watching him, he resumed his flight toward Green Bay.—Shawano Journal.

BOOSTS PARENT-TEACHERS ASS'N. AND BRANCH LIBRARY

The following communication to the Tribune comes from Mrs. F. E. Holmes, and endorses both the Parent-Teachers Association of the West side and the proposed branch library that has been backed by this association. The communication follows:

"To the mothers and teachers of our city that were in attendance at the teachers and mothers meeting at the Edison school Friday:

"As a visitor I spent a most enjoyable hour with you there, and feel so deeply interested in this good work for the mothers and teachers, who are so willingly helping each other in the uplifting of our future generation. For I can plainly see that our teachers are true to their calling and doing all in their power to help our boys and girls to something better and a nobler and higher aim in life and we that are mothers must stand by them and help our children that when they are thrown on their own resources that they cannot only hold the front but can develop initiative and move forward.

Also we must be companions to our children and be a friend to their teacher as well as visit the school and know what your children are doing. At the meeting a short discussion on, do we need a library on the west side? We surely do. Of course we have a fine library on the east side, but our young folks need a place nearer home, for to spend their evenings and leisure time. And a good library is what we most need on this side. Let us all take a step in the right way and help this good cause along."

Chase St. West Side.

Chicago, July 1, 1919

Dear Brother John:—
Take it from me, John, and don't try to find a job up here. City life is not all it cracked up to be and—often I wish I was back on the farm.

I never would have left home except that I got sick and tired of carrying water. It seemed like those twenty cows Pa had could soak up a lake and not feel it. If I missed a bucket or two Pa could tell it, because the cows would let down on milk when they didn't get enough water.

When I wasn't carrying water for the cows, I was carrying it for the house. Saturday night baths and wash day got to be a horror to me because I had to lug in the water for the whole family.

But you won't have all that trouble, John. Dad wrote and told me that he is having one of those Kewanee water systems that Bron the Plumber from Grand Rapids sells and that means that you will have nice fresh running water all over the place—nothing to do but turn a faucet, same as they do in the city. You better stick.

A cheap city life and a skimpy pay envelope isn't half as fine as life on the farm with all the drudgery of lugging water left out. Gee I bet Ma will enjoy the new sink and the running water, hot and cold.

Your homesick brother,

Bill.

RECALLS EARLY DAY DEER HUNTING TRIPS

With Bolshevick literature being widely distributed, the Red element rampant in different sections of the country, little groups of I. W. W.'s, gathering in suspicious places discussing the practicability of a brand new bomb plot, many local citizens might have been placed on the suspicious list during the past few weeks. In the clubs, the offices, stores, and in fact everywhere there has been little groups of men talking in low tones, making gestures, speaking of ammunition, of rifles, supplies and of the big drive. The topic of their conversation, however, has not been the big drive upon Washington; not of rifles and ammunition for the Red revolution; but for the big drive on the Wisconsin deer in the northern part of the state this year. With the season opening today hundreds have been preparing to make their annual trip to the lake and forest counties of the state, where they have been given ten days in which to get their deer. The deer are not plentiful this year, the men from the north say, and it is probable that some of the local hunters may come home empty handed.

One of the oldest of the local hunters who will make the pilgrimage to the northern part of the state this year is Ely Taylor, who has hunted deer in Wisconsin for half of the past century. Mr. Taylor left Wednesday for Trout Lake, where he will be a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Will Meade and a party of hunters who will attempt to get their deer up in the Trout Lake country. Mr. Taylor cruised timber in that country forty-five years ago and recalls some interesting experiences of those days which should be interesting to those who make the annual trip north, and who have not been quite as successful in some instances as Mr. Taylor was.

There was no law on the number of deer that a man could kill in the early days, and Mr. Taylor relates his experiences in the vicinity of Nekeosa.

"The biggest season I ever had was one year when I went down south of Nekeosa about nine miles," Mr. Taylor stated, "I killed fifty-seven deer that fall and sold them. There was no law on how many a man could kill and there was always a good market for the meat."

Another trip that Mr. Taylor spoke of was when he went with Rube Lyon, another pioneer, well known by older residents of this city, a distance of a mile and a half south west of Nekeosa. Mr. Taylor's son, who was then a mere boy, accompanied them. In a few days they spent there the two men and the lad had all the deer they could pile on their sleigh, numbering twenty-seven, all of them being bucks of good size.

"It was two or three weeks earlier than this in the year," Mr. Taylor states, "and the bucks were running. The lad would ride in the sleigh until we came to an island. (Hunters call a patch of brush or small wooded tract which grow up on the marshes and island. They are usually only a few acres in area and afford protection to the game.) Then Rube would go around one side, and I around the other. The lad had a small air gun and he would go thru the island. Lots of times he would drive out four or five deer from the one island, and it was very unusual when there was not at least one deer in the wooded tract. He would give them a charge of fine shot from the shot gun and then one of us would get the deer."

It was very seldom that a deer got away from them in those days, Mr. Taylor stated. The men in this vicinity were good shots, he says, and it was not only evident in the field hunting but during the rebellion the Wisconsin boys proved that they could shoot with decided accuracy. Mr. Taylor used an old muzzle loading rifle at that time which weighed about fifteen pounds. It would shoot most any charge you cared to put into it, he says, and was so heavy that it never kicked. Early in the season when the bucks were running they used to go down below Nekeosa and stay in one spot practically all day, getting several deer from one location. The venison used to sell for ten cents a pound in those days, and found a ready market with the butchers of Grand Rapids.

Mr. Taylor has hunted the northern country when he sold his venison to the lumber camps, there being a law later which restricted every hunter to two deer. However, the people of the northern country usually had venison during the entire winter, there being little attention paid to the number they could kill. In addition to establishing a reputation as a hunter Mr. Taylor is said to be a remarkable cook, being capable of preparing pastries and fancy dishes with exceptional skill.

VOCATIONAL SCHOOL WILL GIVE TWO SCHOLARSHIPS

Wash has just been received from the State Board of Vocational Education that Grand Rapids Vocational School is entitled to two scholarships, one of $400 for each school year, and one for $100.

The requirements for the $400 scholarship are the person must have completed the eighth grade or its equivalent, and have at least three years in some one of the important trades. Preferred ages from 18 to 25 years. When scholarship has been awarded students will be assigned to Stout Institute for training. Owing to the shortage of shop teachers, it is the hope of the State Board that all applicants for scholarship will be interested in becoming shop teachers.

The $100 will be awarded by the State Board of Vocational Education to deserving students who have attended the Vocational Schools of the state during the past year.

The number of scholarships assigned to each city based on total enrollment of the year 1918-1919.

Persons awarded scholarships may attend any full time school of less than college grade such as vocational school, high school or trade school. Students to whom scholarships are awarded will be selected by an impartial competitive examination given by the local Board of Vocational Education.

The purposes of these scholarships are to help students who have an earnest desire to improve their education and who's financial condition makes it impossible for them to take advantage of regular school attendance without assistance.

Any one interested in the above scholarships apply at once to W. A. Sprise, Director of Vocational Education, Grand Rapids, Wis.

Adulterated butter manufacturers are next in line for prosecution, says the dairy and food commissioner. Tests of butter samples sent to the state laboratories indicate that a large harvest of warrants will be issued. According to the commissioner, butter samples tested vary in amount of butterfat from 72 to 75 per cent, while the state law stipulates 85.5 per cent butter fat as the minimum. The pure food law sets the amount of water allowable in butter at 16 per cent. Tests show 17 to 22 per cent. The commissioner says every creamery in the state will be investigated. He says the buttermakers are profiteering by selling less butter fat and more water to the consumer than is legal.

POINT SPORTSMEN PUT FISH IN LAKE EMILY

A shipment of 5,000 fish which was sent to the Stevens Point Fish and Game Protective association was planted in Lake Emily by one of Stevens Point sportsmen and a representative from the bureau of fisheries.

The consignment included perch, black bass, crappies and Mississippi river bullheads. They came from La Crosse, having been rescued from along the Mississippi river. Application was made for them shortly after a request was made for their shipment which arrived here Saturday and was planted in the Wisconsin river. The fish which arrived Wednesday are slightly smaller than those in the first shipment. The number was larger, however, there being 4,000 in the first order.

REAL MINSTRELS

—For singing and dancing none can excel the colored race, and it seems as if the cream of the colored talent has been brought into the Harvey Greater Minstrels, at least this company is establishing itself rapidly as a top liner attraction and is not thought of as a "nigger-show" it being in the same class and character as any white minstrel, unless it be that it is superior, and the white people appreciating the efforts of these deserving people are very liberal in their patronage.

So far this season, reports verify the fact that five nights out of the week, hundreds are turned away from the Harvey Greater Minstrels. They will be here at the Daly's Theatre Wednesday, Nov. 26th.

300,000 Maxwells
How they created a demand for the Post-War Maxwell that cannot be fulfilled
THERE is a demand for the Post-War Maxwell that eight great plants cannot fill. More than 40,000 persons who set their minds on having one will have to go without.
The cause for this is due largely to the magnificent performance of the 300,000 previous Maxwells.
They delivered such excellent mileage at such low cost that the great American public learned to know this car.
This unprecedented demand is evidence of its deep rooted appreciation. Then when the Post-War Maxwell came out, with its score or more of refinements and improvements developed during the war, the demand for Maxwell reached a new peak.
100,000 are being built during the current year. 40,000 more readily could be marketed.
Thousands are priding themselves on possessing one of these Post-War models; thousands more will have their hopes filled; thousands will have to go without.
Which class will you be in?

C. OF C. MAY HELP ESTABLISH MARKET

At a meeting of the committee on Markets from the Rotary Club and the Directors of the Chamber of Commerce held Monday afternoon, it is probable that definite steps will be taken within the next few months to establish a market place in Grand Rapids. The idea is to have a place where farmers can bring in anything from a chicken or two to a load of hay and be able to sell it at the market value. At the present time a farmer bringing in produce never knows definitely whether he will be able to sell it or not, and often has to return home in the evening with his goods, or whatever other product he brings in. In case he has brought in pork and it is found that the butchers already have all they can handle he is unable to sell. The new market, if established, would buy any of these products at any time and pay the market price. If local dealers didn't want them they would be shipped on to the cities and placed on the market there.

The fact that Grand Rapids does not have a market is not news to either the farmers nor to most of the business men. Practically every business man has run into cases where farmers have been forced to return home with a load of some produce at night being unable to sell it while here. A banker stated at Monday's meeting that just a few days previous a farmer came into the bank and asked where he could sell his hogs. The banker referred him to the butchers, but the farmer stated that he had already tried the butchers and they could not buy any more pork. No market could be found for the hogs. Incidents of that kind do not have to occur very often in a farmers' business career before he will seek a better marketing place, and will naturally do his trading where he markets.

Within the past week one of the progressive farmers of Appleton, Wis., to the Tribune office, stated that he wanted to discontinue the paper. He was offered a subscription list he was asked what the trouble was with the paper.

"Well," he said, "there is nothing the matter with the paper that I know of, but I think I'll take a look at it. You know the market is super up there and our farmers always watch the market pretty close."

What is true of this farmer is probably true of a good many farmers in the county who live about as close to one city as the other, and who can as easily trade in Marshfield or Stevens Point as they can in Grand Rapids. Just what the solution of the problem may be is undecided as yet, but the committees of both organizations are working on the matter.

The solution of other problems that are faced by farmers of this county may be solved with the new organization should suggestions that have been made be carried out. The proposition of helping the farmers get more cows on their farms, either by helping them get them cheaper or assisting them in financing the purchase of more cows. The proposition of buying a pair of calves and placing them on the county poor farm or other county institution where they could be taken care of, and then selling the offspring to the farmers at the actual cost has been suggested. It is generally agreed that all the farmers could profitably handle more stock and the problem of getting them the stock will probably be taken up by the local organizations.

HANCOCK BOY LOST BOTH FEET ON VERDUN FRONT

Hancock News—Walter Johnson, of Colburn, near the last of soldier boys from this vicinity to reach home arrived here Saturday. His mother Mrs. Sam Johnson, went to meet him in Stevens Point where he stopped with relatives a few days to rest up after his trip from the Walter Reed Hospital in Washington, D. C., where he has been since last March, for Walter suffered a great misfortune in the war—the loss of both feet.

He left home to enter the service on April 25, 1918, and after short stops in U. S. training camps he went across, sailing for England on June 4th and reaching France on June 18th. Following a period of training he was sent to the front in the 89th division and after 60 days' service without receiving a scratch he was struck by a high explosive shell at Verdun on Nov. 1st, only ten days before the armistice, and rendered unconscious for over a week. When he regained his senses he learned that his wounds had necessitated the amputation of both lower limbs, one about 10 inches below the knee and the other about 8 inches below.

As soon as able he was sent back to the U. S., reaching this country on March 22nd, and has since been cared for in Walter Reed Hospital until where he was fitted with artificial feet and is now able to walk very well with the aid of a cane.

He is in good spirits and glad to get home. While his government insurance and pension will amply provide for him he will seek employment of some kind after visiting the home folks, for he still wants to do his share.

Walter was warmly greeted by many Hancock friends and was all around of him, and grateful to him for his service and sacrifice in our behalf.

Next summer, and all summers thereafter, automobile tourists traveling through central Wisconsin will find Wausau an oasis. The Marathon County Agricultural society has given the grounds of the camping place. The city will bear the burden of the cost and a committee will arrange for the comfort of all who may use the grounds. The fair grounds are on state highway No. 16 and near highway No. 10.

QUESTIONS LOCAL AMERICAN LEGION

Editor Grand Rapids Tribune:
Grand Rapids, Wis.
Nov. 15, 1919

With your permission and in behalf of a great many ex-servicemen, with whom I have talked, relative to the organization of the American Legion in the city of Grand Rapids, would like to be enlightened as to when the American Legion was organized in Grand Rapids, on what day and date, also the number of charter members. Also as to the number of members secured during drive for same and who were on the committee to do this work?

I have talked with a number of men in the city relative to this so called American Legion in the city of Grand Rapids and there is a great deal of reluctance on the part of men to join, due to the fact that the branch here was organized mostly for the self interest of two or three men who might have seen a little more, or perhaps a little less service than some others.

I wish it known that it is not my desire to be carried about on a chip, but why not get together and organize in such a manner and with such a representation as is fitting to the honor and respect of all concerned.

Yours respectfully,
Geo. L. Schlig,
Ex-Volunteer "Buck" 3rd Division.
Following an answer which was made to Mr. Schlig's previous letter by Ex-Corporal Knapp Mr. Schlig says:

Grand Rapids, Wis.
Nov. 19, 1919

Editor Grand Rapids Tribune:
With your permission I would like to reply to Ex-Corporal James P. Knapp. First, Corporal Knapp claims to know nothing about the local post for which we are asking information. Second, Corporal Knapp is not a member of the local post. What I am looking for or inquiring about is contained in my previous letter. It is not a question of one hundred per cent Americanism or the principle and that I thought for. It is information as to the time and of the organization of the local post and the number of charter members. If Corporal Knapp sees it to contribute an article on Americanism for this column all well and good as there seems to be a great need for it at the present time. But we do not consider it necessary to bring it into this controversy. Hoping that I may be able to be enlightened on the questions of my previous letter.

Yours truly,
Geo. L. Schlig,
Ex-Volunteer "Buck" 3rd Division.

RATTO TOLD ROTARIANS HOW TO BOOST LIBRARY

Speaking at the weekly Rotary luncheon Wednesday, John B. Ratto, impersonator and entertainer, told the Rotarians and their guests how the Public Library could be made an alive institution. The average public library today is a great tombstone. Mr. Ratto said, and the average person is doing nothing to make them a place of public interest. In order that none of his remarks might hit the local library Mr. Ratto stated that he had not visited the public library in Grand Rapids, but that he intended to visit it and that he had visited the public libraries in practically every city that he had appeared in. He explained how librarians in some cities had made the buildings open to the working people, to the people in their homes, and to those who had never taken an interest in reading. He told of a paper mill who with the co-operation of the library and the men in the plant had changed from the manufacture of one of the cheapest grades of paper to the highest grade of bonds, simply by holding classes in the mill and studying the books the library furnished. Not a single man was changed in the mill for the change in manufacture. No expert help was called in to help them out. He described how an Iowa librarian had carried books to homes and left them there for the people to read, coming back for them a week afterward and leaving other books.

Telling his factories and manufacturing firms had been the benefit among their men when the Librarian would post lists of the books in the mill regarding topics on their work, how any clipping might be taken from newspapers and the list of books that pertained to the subject be posted along with the clipping, and other methods of making the library a popular and frequented place, Mr. Ratto held the intense interest of his audience.

Mr. Ratto told of the Red element, the Bolsheviks and the unsettled conditions in the larger cities. He explained how the mind that was elevated to a thinking standard was not easily swung over to the Red forces. He gave a very strong appeal for better Americanism and better citizenship. Following his talk the Rotary Club of Grand Rapids elected Mr. Ratto an honorary member.

During his talk Mr. Ratto mentioned several books which he considered worth reading, among them being "What Happened to Europe," by Vanderlip, and "How To Live on Twenty-Four Hours a Day," by Bennett. Miss Solheim, local librarian, had heard of Mr. Ratto's talk and informed the Tribune that the local library has both of those books mentioned. "What Happened to Europe," she states is a late book which has not been out of the local library.

APPLETON WON FOOTBALL GAME FROM LOCAL TEAM

The Grand Rapids football team went over to Appleton last Saturday to play the high school team there, the Appleton boys coming out with the long end of a 27 to 0 score. The local boys, starting they started out strong, practically walking away with the Appleton team in the first quarter. The Appleton boys came back strong in the second quarter and playing straight football piled up a good score. Appleton is considered one of the strong high school teams of the state, however, and the score does not indicate that the local men did not play a good game. Menier played the first half but a lame ankle proved a serious handicap to him. The team goes to Marshfield Saturday where they meet the high school team of that city. Marshfield has played some very strong games this year and some very weak ones, it being pretty hard to do what one will be the victor in advance.

LITTLE FELLOW DIED

Earl Bethke, aged four years, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Bethke, of the town of Hansen, died last Friday. The lad was a bright little fellow, a cheer to his parents and friends, and his untimely death leaves deep sorrow in that neighborhood. The funeral was held Sunday afternoon at 2:00 from the house, Rev. Gieselman officiating. Burial was made in the cemetery at Seneca Corners.

Mrs. Wm. Donaldson and three children of Bloomer who have been visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. Ferd. Link, returned to her home on Monday.

Ray Shennock had his arm badly bruised at the Consolidated mill on Tuesday. Ray is employed as back tender and got his arm caught between the dryer felt and dryer.

HAD UNUSUAL WILL

Mrs. A. P. Hirzy entertained a number of neighbors and friends at her home on Wednesday evening. The evening was spent at playing five hundred at which four tables were used. Honors were awarded to Mrs. Cliff Blunt and Mrs. Jos. Reiland. Refreshments were served and a fine time was had by all.

LIPKE HEADS LOCAL LABOR ORGANIZATION

Edw. W. Lipke was re-elected president of the Grand Rapids Federation of Labor at the annual election of officers held at Union Headquarters last Thursday evening. Other officers elected are: Vice President—Mark Whitlock, Sr. Rec. Sec.—Joe Gordon. Fin. Sec.—Wm. Goldberg. Treas.—Joseph Kasper. Trustees—Wm. Stamm, Patrick O'Brien and E. W. Beck. Financial Committee—F. C. Brown, Robert Patefield and Wm. Apple. Legislative Committee—Robert Patefield, E. W. Beck, Ed. Bodette, Bodette.

Organization Com.—Wm. Swain, Joe Kasper, J. L. Chastle, E. W. Lipke, and Wm. Apple. A committee which will make an investigation of reports that the Ne-Koosa-Edwards Paper Co. is hiring boys under age was appointed, and according to the union officials should such conditions be found to exist the matter will be taken up thru the union authorities immediately. The union men state that the reports coming from there indicate that quite a number of boys are being employed at the plants down river since the strike occurred.

The Federation in a unanimous vote endorsed the bonding of the city for the erection of a new bridge across the river here, urging the members to turn out and vote in favor of the proposition.

Other matters of direct interest to the unions were brought up by the members and discussed, several important matters to the different locals in the city having been settled.

HAD UNUSUAL WILL

The will of Mary Jane Ballam, formerly of Lancaster, England, has been filed in Judge Conway's court. Thomas Ballam, Jr., of Marshfield being one of the heirs. The instrument was drawn up in England and is rather a rare type for the local court records.

SOLVE TEACHERS SALARIES; BASE PAY ON EXPERIENCE

While the cost of living has increased steadily in the past few years, teachers salaries, the teachers claim, have advanced very little and the result is that their expenses have grown out of proportion with their pay. Grand Rapids teachers have been granted a general advance of $5 this year over the figure their contracts called for, however, there is still some dissatisfaction and while there may be no change this year the present prices do not drop there will probably have to be a revision in the wage scale next year before contracts are closed. The Racine school board has adopted the following system for setting the wage scale, which bases the wages on the experience the teacher has had:

"It will be of interest to school boards, school officials, and particularly to teachers to learn of the new salary schedule adopted at Racine. This will mean an increase of nearly forty per cent over the present year's salaries. Under the new schedule recently adopted by the board of education, the minimum salary for inexperienced teachers in the elementary grades will be $900 and a maximum of $1400 in the first six grades for teachers who have had ten years of experience. The eighth grade maximum is $1500 with twelve years of experience. For high school teachers the minimum is fixed at $1000 for inexperienced teachers and the maximum at $1700 for teachers who have had ten years of experience.

"In addition to providing for an annual increase the board has taken a definite step to encourage professional growth through summer school attendance. It has agreed to pay one half of the cost of attending summer school up to a maximum of $100. The items of expense for which the board agrees to pay one half of the cost include railroad fare, tuition, board and lodging. Racine is a city of about 50,000 inhabitants and while things may be higher there, the system of advancing might be a suggestion to the local board when the matter comes up.

TIRE COMPANY HAD BIG ADVERTISING TRUCK HERE

The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. had a large advertising truck in this city last Thursday and Friday, the truck being equipped with pneumatic tires of extraordinary dimensions, which attracted no little attention. It was one of the fleet that was used on runs between Akron, Ohio, and Boston for some time, later making a transcontinental trip from New York to San Francisco in twenty-four days. The truck was a White and according to R. O. Brinker and W. O. Borge, company representatives who travel with it, it had traveled a distance of 106,000 miles before reaching this city. The rear wheels of the truck were equipped with 44x10 inch pneumatic tires, the front wheels having a slightly smaller pneumatic tire equipment. The truck itself with the body, according to the men, weighed 13,000 pounds and loaded generally weighed about 18,000. The purpose of the trip is to demonstrate the practicability of equipping trucks with pneumatics for all season travel. The company representatives stated that the fact that they were able to travel practically everywhere with this large truck demonstrated to farmers and business men that it was easily possible to travel practically the entire season with a smaller truck pneumatically equipped.

This large truck, the men stated, traveled from coast to coast at an average of thirteen and one-half miles an hour, which would be a pretty fair average for a touring car. They broke thru immovable bridges which couldn't sustain the weight of the large truck, they state, and in their travels found practically every kind of road.

WAS CLEVER IMPERSONATOR

The first number of the winter program was given at Daly's Theatre Tuesday evening, John B. Ratto, an impersonator being the entertainer. A large crowd had gathered to hear Mr. Ratto and his impersonations were very good. He spoke very highly of the following numbers which he has followed on other courses, and should the subsequent numbers be as entertaining as the opening event, the course should be a thoro success.
